COLONEL CATLY T GIBSON Qu. rs

The people of Virginia do not need to be informed that at the recent election Colonel J. Catlett Gibson ran as an inde-pendent candidate in Culpeper county for Gibson has long been a marked man in Virginia's affairs, and when anything as important as this in connection with him takes place all the people of Virginia Colonel Gibson, being defeated, now sublishes a letter in the Fredericksburg Free Lance, in which he announces that scores the Populists so that we suppose he has, of course, united his fortunes with the Republican party.

The Times has always had a very high the deepest regret we receive this ansuccement from him. He says that when | matter of no consequence at all. the Democratic party passed the Walton law at the last session of the Legislature he told his fellow-members he would leave the party. His language is as fol-

"I notified the dominant faction that if they passed that bill I would leave their party and go back to the old-line white party. The bill passed, of course. When I got back home I found that the Whig party had been dead and in heaven, lo! these many years. I had no where to go. But I have never since participated in the perpotse primaries or conchological conventions of the Smithers Democracy."

Colonel Gibson could not possibly be more opposed to certain features of the Walton law than The Times is, but The Times thinks the place to fight those features is in the ranks of the Democratic party. The Democratic party of Virginia has in its ranks the overwhelming ma-jority of the white people of Virginia, while if the negroes were stricken from the Republican party of the State there would be no Republican party in the State. To say that the Republican party of the State will be appealed to to give us fair elections rather than the Demo eratic party of the State, is about the same thing as to say that the negroes of Virginia are better qualified to adminis-ter the affairs of the State than the white people. Everybody knows that this is not a fact, and we are entirely persuaded that any man will make a mistake who seeks to secure reform in our laws by appealing to the negro rather than the white vote. For that reason The Times, though as ardent an advocate of perfeetly fair elections as any person can be, has remained in the Democratic party making its appeals to its fellow white nen, and it intends to remain in that party to the last and submit to whatever measure that party may mote out

Colonel Gibson certainly puts the case against our election methods with great force. He says:

"The State issue is, Shall we have fair elections? To this Smithers responds: Vote for the Democratic nominee, he is my man! I Smithers and the Democratic party.' Smithers asks too much of us, he demands a greater sacrifice than was ever required of Abraham. He calls upon us to sacrifice upon his unbody after truth, isonor, justice, freedom, family ties, and filial affections to the hollow echoes of the false notes of the great god—Smithers."

Nevertheless, The Times will not seek redress of this dreadful state of affairs from a party whose backbone is the solid mass of ignorant negroes.

We are both surprised and grieved to hear from Colonel Gibson what he is swallow-nest soup, he would have been ready to accept rather than continue the apt to balk when he reached the live fight for our rights in the ranks of the fight for our rights in the ranks of the Democratic party. He says:

"I will units with any party to secure fair elections and honest trade. Better military rule; better Republican domination than bottomies anarchy, boundless chaos and infinite fraud. Under existing election laws, as administered by subsisting bosses, there is no help in us. Congress is our only help; our only safeguard. We should ask Congress to guarantee us a republican government, as provided by section IX, article IV, of the Constitution, and to supervise our elections for representatives and for elections to elections of section is, chapter 1, article 1."

declare that he is ready to accept the force bill with its hateful array of United States marshals, black as well as white, to intimidate the people at the polls and to make demiciliary visits of inspection to the homes of our people in quest of un-anything before it will submit to that. The idea upon which the force bill is founded is opposed to every principle of free, representative government. Free, representative government requires that the locality (with us the State) shall determine who may take part in selecting representatives, and the modes in which the elections shall be held, and who shall themselves Republicans, but are, in fact, socialists. The socialist looks to government for nothing, but the Republican does the same. Colonel Gibson's proposition s Republicanism, which is another name for socialism, and we shall never assent to want to eat live blind mice, either in honey or out of honey? We don't believe a well-bred American cat, accustomed to good cat company, would cat live mice or blind mice. He would turn with contempt from them if they were blind, and no cat, who is a real gentleman cat, thinks a mouse worth a cent that he has not tortured to death. We fear the Chinese are hopeless. Thompson and Judge Norten will soon be reminded of some election-time talk with regard to a certain policy den and liquor-seiling here on the Sabbath.

Circumstantial evidence and Mayor Thompson's and Judge Norton's stern commands would at least decrease the effect of this now crying evil. The saloon-keepers and grog-shop men, while declaring Sunday to be their best day, would gladly herald a more thorough enforcement of the law.

Rheumatic Persons Perfect Barometers.

Mary persons claim that they can forestell changes in the weather, the enty explanation for their knowledge being that "they feel it in their bongs." This is not a foolish notion. The nefves of persons suffering from rheumatism are more highly sensitive than those of other people, and for that reason they are more easily affected by any change in the atmosphere. How few of us are exempt from this common disease. After ome exposure to wet or cold, there are highly chills, lassitude, no appetite, bitter taste in the mouth, coated tongue, and xeeesive soreness, lameness, and xeeling in some joint, muscle, or portion of the body. The pains shift from one blace to another; sometimes the disease may settle in the back, or chest, and one can scarcely breathe without a sharp ain; the shoulder or arm may be affected, or the rheumatism may settle in the feet and fers. At any time there a danger that the rheumatism may attack some vital organ like the heart and carry off its victim.
